

VPC-Tip #44 – Electronic Drawings from VPCCommand

Builders may receive electronically transmitted drawings over the builder web if they desire.

VP has processes in place to accomplish this and all that needs to be done is to request this option. In the future, there should be a “check block” in VP Command, for now a note; in General Notes will be fine.

Advantages:

1. The builders will receive the drawing(s) as an Adobe Acrobat (.pdf) file.
2. The drawing(s) can be printed in what ever size is required.
3. The builder will have a copy (electronic file) of the drawings and can print additional set or pages as desired.
4. They would avoid the additional drawing charges in VP Command for additional sets.
5. They will receive drawings faster. (No mail or overnight delays or charges)

Jobs that require a raised seal or a wet stamp will not be available electronically at this time.

In the builder survey done last year, over 70% of the responses indicated they were interested in receiving their drawings electronically.
